Prepared Especially For
I. M. Sample
 January 04, 2007

I am pleased to provide this statement of personal benefits that are available to you as a Federal civil service employee working for NASA. The information in this confidential summary is unique to you. It is intended to give you a concise, personal list of those benefits that vary according to your years of service, salary, and personal elections--such as life and health insurance and thrift savings plan (TSP) participation. When used in conjunction with the comprehensive summary provided in your Employee Benefits Handbook, this statement should serve as a valuable tool for use in your healthcare, financial, retirement, and personal planning.

How to read your statement . . .

- A - About You
- B - Service Dates
- C - Pay
- D - Life Insurance
- E - Health Insurance

- a. The Information contained in your statement is extracted from the Federal Personnel and Payroll System (FPPS) and is current as of the date listed. Your statement is divided by category of data (e.g., life insurance, health insurance, basic retirement annuity, Thrift Savings Plan, and life scenario: If I resign, If I die, etc.).
- b. The left-hand column contains data or calculations that are unique to you. The right-hand column is the label for that data.
- c. For an explanation of data listed in each section of the statement, you may click on the hyperlink titles. You may also refer to: "Understanding Your NASA Employee Benefits Statement" in your Employee Benefits Handbook.

Requesting additional statements . . .

You may access NEBS from your office PC or from home with a dial-in account at any time.

If you need additional assistance . . .

If you need additional assistance or are planning a significant career move such as retirement or resignation, I encourage you to contact me for a detailed review of your benefits.

Your Benefits Counselor

A word of caution...

This benefit statement is provided as an "estimate" of your benefits. The calculations are based upon current Federal regulations, your current employee status, current salary tables, and information that is in your employee record. As these factors change, your benefits and their expected values will change. Consequently, this statement is not a guarantee that any benefit will continue in effect throughout your career. To protect both parties, you should not use it as a basis or guarantee for determining "actual" future benefits for use in any type of legal settlement.

Information About You

This information is provided for verification purposes. It is the basis for many of the calculations in this statement. If you believe that it is incorrect, please contact your Benefits Counselor.
